BACKGROUND AND LEGISLATION

BACKGROUND

Codes of conduct establish standards of behaviour to be followed and define how individuals are expected to behave towards each other, towards the children in their care, and towards other organisations and individuals in the community.

The approved provider, nominated supervisor, early childhood teachers, educators and all other staff have a duty of care to the children attending the service and must ensure 'that every reasonable precaution is taken to protect children being educated and cared for by the service from harm and from any hazard likely to cause injury' (National Law: Section 167).

The National Quality Standard requires that all staff be respectful and ethical and that 'professional standards guide practice, interactions and relationships' (National Quality Standard: 4.2 and 4.2.2).

Employers also have a legal responsibility to provide, as far as is practicable, a safe workplace that is free from discrimination, bullying and harassment.

Child Safe Standards requires services to ensure the Code of Conduct provides guidelines for staff and volunteers on expected behavioural standards and responsibilities, and breaches to the Code of Conduct are acted upon and reported.

A Code of Conduct should be informed by the service's philosophy, beliefs and values, and based on ethical principles of mutual respect, equity and fairness. Consideration should be given to the Victorian Teaching Profession Code of Conduct and the Code of Ethics and to the Early Childhood Australia's Code of Ethics in developing the code of conduct.

The approved provider must ensure that the nominated supervisor, early childhood teachers, educators, other staff, contractors, volunteers, students on placement, parents/guardians, children and others attending the programs and activities of NERPSA adhere to the expectations outlined in the Code of Conduct when communicating to and interacting with:

- children at the service and their parents and family members
- each other
- others in the community.

Principle 2: Abusive or aggressive behaviour will not be tolerated

- will clearly state that the conversation/behaviour makes them feel uncomfortable and at risk and request for the conversation to cease

- the Educational Leader will notify NERPSA management of the situation, including a summary of the individual's concerns, and any proposed management strategies for consideration
- NERPSA management may contact the individual to advise them of NERPSA's position and request that they limit and/or focus their requests. If the individual continues to make unreasonable demands, NERPSA may:

The Educational Leader will investigate the matter and notify NERPSA management and act in accordance with this policy.

Where the Approved Provider determines to limit access to the service in any of the ways specified in this policy, the relevant Department of Education and Training division will be notified.
